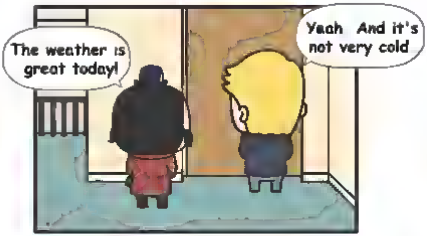
The next day



As I expected the night before,
the weather was very good and clear
all day.

Then last Friday,
Mev and I went for a walk in the night.

The air became cold because of the rain in the evening, but there were many twinkling stars in the sky.

We had planned to go out
the next day, Saturday,
so the stars made me even happier.

And we headed out.

After we bought what we needed to buy from a shop in the town centre, ..

..... we walked back to where we had parked our car.

I put some make up on my face and did my hair up.

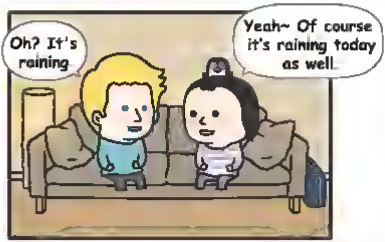
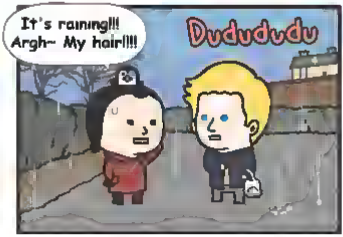
The rain...



.... makes the winter days even colder so we have to wear very warm clothes when we go out.

Suddenly the sky changed and it was raining cats and dogs.



I panicked because of the rain and Mev seemed like he was trying to do something.

But one small thing that relieves us is...

... the heavy rain doesn't last very long and gives us some break times.

Rain

Recently, it's often raining where Mev and I live.

' Well.. it must be... '
